Sociology Student Spotlight

NELL KENNEDY

Nell took a sociology seminar in her first semester at UB and decided to become a major. She is the president of the undergraduate sociology club. According to Nell, she really enjoys doing this because “it helps me meet new people and it provides a sense of community among students studying sociology and with students of other majors that are in the club.”

Nell is only in her third semester at UB so she is unsure what she wants to do after graduation but she thinks she would like to pursue either labor relations or urban policy.

Congratulations Nell!
